*In this note, we update our State of Utility Capex series, a comprehensive monitor of short and long-term US electric utility capex trends providing insight into the fundamentals of electrical equipment manufacturers and contractors. To gain recurring access to the excel-based version of this data feed, please reach out to your salesperson.

Utility capex grew 22% Y/Y in 2Q. This came in 9ppts below seasonal, down 2% Q/Q, though 1Q was a tough comp than normal given it was well above seasonal. From here, consensus expects 3Q to grow above seasonal (11% vs. 5% historical) implying 35% Y/Y growth. 4Q is currently below seasonal, implying upside to street's current full-year 23% Y/Y growth expectation. '26 capex growth expectations have come down a bit since 1Q (from 25% to 23%), which is similar to '25, likely reflective of spend being pushed out to grapple with construction, regulatory, permitting, etc. delays. As proof, '27, capex expectations are also 4ppts higher vs. the start of this year, sitting at 11% Y/Y growth.

Multi-year changes: 2Q multi-year raises were rather muted, though generally in-line with historical trends. Still, on a Y/Y basis, utilities' multi-year capex budgets are up 22% in 2Q (down slightly from 1Q's 24%). Utilities raised their multi-year capex plans by 1.4% in 2Q (or $17.6B), in-line with historical trend. Most of observable growth was driven by generation (NextEra ~$7B of incremental generation spend from '27 to '30). In aggregate, spending is expected to remain strongest in generation (49% Y/Y) and transmission (18%). Relative to last quarter, expectations were raised for generation (+4ppts to 49%) and transmission (+1ppt to 18%), while distribution remained flat at 10%. Our updated large load pipeline tracker now sees 775 GW (vs. 726 GW in 1Q) of cumulative capacity (largely data centers), representing 57% of current US generation capacity. The biggest change was in Semptra's Oncor who called out its interconnect queue sitting at 298 GW (up from 289 GW in 1Q).

Y/Y changes: utility spend growing across categories in '26; generation seeing strongest growth, distribution re-accelerating. Utilities are anticipating growing their capex budgets most in generation (36% Y/Y in '26) and transmission (25% Y/Y in '26). Distribution is expected to grow 14%, a significant re-acceleration vs. last year's 6%. Given minimal long-term capex updates this quarter, forecasts remained intact vs. 1Q. While the pie continues to grow, generation and transmission's share of capex continues eating into distribution which has lost 5ppts of share since '24.

Bottom line: with mid-term elections coming up, cumulative mentions of "affordability" on earnings calls have outpaced "data center" this year. Utilities (accounting for 80% of all US power delivered) are pledging to shield ratepayers from data center-related bill increases.

This is likely to remain an overhang over the near term. Nonetheless, for the 3rd straight quarter, generation spend continues to drive the majority of utility spend intention increases (58% in 4Q, 80% in 1Q, 99% in 2Q). This positions generation exposed names most like GEV, ENR, and PWR (over distribution-exposed names) particularly as transmission investment follows new builds.

INVESTMENT IMPLICATIONS

US Machinery: We rate ETN (TP $534) and HUBB (TP $584) as Outperform, and PWR (TP $748) as Market-Perform. Our 2Q utility capex tracking exercise is further supportive of the short and long-term tailwinds seen in the electrification space. We see all three names benefiting from attractive multi-year end market growth, particularly in the data center space, where bottlenecks persist, demand for equipment and labor is high, and backlogs remain healthy.

European Capital Goods: We rate Schneider (PT €350), Siemens (€330), and Siemens Energy (€210) Outperform, and rate ABB (CHF 80), Nexans (€150), and Prysmian (€145) Market-Perform.

US Multi-Industry & Electrical Equipment: We rate Vertiv (PT $368) and NVT (PT $229) Outperform.

Americas Energy & Transition: We rate GEV (PT $1298) Outperform.

NOTABLE CAPEX INCREASES THIS QUARTER

Overall, the group raised its long-term capex plans by 1% Q/Q. Centerpoint raised its plan by $1.2B (from $33.1B to $34.2B) or +3% driven entirely by electric T&D. Entergy added a 5th year to its long-term plan, thus driving a multi-year capex increase from $57B to $67B, though on an apples-to-apples basis, the '26-29 capex plan remains intact but continues to reflect utilities' confidence in longer duration investment trends. Eversource maintained its $21.6B plan, but noted that its 2026 IRPs result in ~$1B of incremental capex to its 4Q25 capital plan, and that additional load beyond the 3 GW signed to-date also requires incremental capacity resources. NextEra raised its '27-30 capex plan by ~$7B, entirely driven by generation spend ($1.7B in wind, $3b in solar, and $2B in other clean energy). Xcel maintained its $60B plan but sites "$10B+ of line of sight that largely falls within 2026-2030 forecast". Mgmt sites 10-12+ GW in RFPs; though the mix is unknown, Xcel notes that 1 GW of data center demand (assuming balance of renewable, storage and natural gas generation) could require $6-8 billion of investment (including third-party generation) implying ~$20B of incremental investment assuming this were all data center demand.

EXHIBIT 47: AEP Focusing on Customer Affordability, Calling For $16B of Cost Offsets for Customers

Delivering Affordable and Reliable Power

Residential rate impacts are mitigated through load growth, including 69 GW of contracted load by 2030 (up from 63 GW disclosed last quarter), as well as disciplined cost management and efficient financing.

Large load growth supports affordability

- Forecasting up to $16B of cost offsets generated for existing residential customers from fully executed take-or-pay ESAs within the VIUs through their allocated contributions to fixed expenses over the life of the agreements
- Implemented rate reductions in AEP Ohio and I&M enabled by large load growth and filing structures designed to support customer affordability

Federal grants and U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) loans provide customer savings

- Received award notices totaling almost $400M in grants to deliver customer savings over the grant periods, including recent June 2026 awards supporting generation resources
- Executed on ~$5B of DOE loans for transmission projects, including an up to $3.3B loan for AEP Texas that closed in July 2026; the total loan portfolio is estimated to deliver ~$1B of customer savings over the life of the loans through lower financing costs

Focused customer service with disciplined cost management

- Improved customer average interruption duration index, demonstrating meaningful progress in strengthening customer service through more reliable power
- Focused O&M efficiency amid rapid rate base growth

9 Q2-26 Earnings Presentation

Disciplined cost management with O&M increasing modestly while rate base grew at roughly double the pace

Converting Robust Large Load Customer Pipeline To ESAs

Pipeline Category	Peak GW Potential	Commentary
Tier 1 Active Operations and Signed ESAs	~3.0	- Includes projects already in operation progressing toward a steady-state of ~1.3 GW - Includes ~1.7 GW of additional announced projects with executed ESAs under LLPS inclusive of binding minimum bill provisions over 16 to 17 years
Tier 1 Expansion Opportunities	~2.0-2.5	- Represents expansion opportunities with existing customers at existing/adjacent sites who have signed ESAs; incremental load requires amending load ramp in existing or new ESAs - Category has increased to ~2.0-2.5 GW (from ~1.0-1.5 GW) - Working on transmission and generation solutions to allow expansions Upside potential both before and after 2030
Tier 2 Advanced Discussions	~1.0-2.0	- Represents customers that have land or land rights, signed initial agreements, and for which transmission and generation capacity solutions are under review - Financial commitments received; further agreements to be executed - Opportunity primarily beyond 2030, further extending strong growth pipeline into the next decade
Tier 3	~10+	- Incremental pipeline projects not yet in active queue; well in excess of 10 GW - Evergy is actively working these projects to prioritize best fit for "next up" - Opportunity primarily beyond 2030

Large load customers will empower growth, investments and drive prosperity for our region; LLPS tariffs provide protections for existing customers and ensure large customers pay their fair share of system costs

KY Economic Development Update

Growing customer demand enhances visibility into future generation needs

LG&E and KU's Development Pipeline

Load growth trends continue to support additional long-term investment opportunities beyond the current business plan

- Economic development pipeline has expanded by ~6% to 13.7GW of potential load growth through 2032
 - Data center-related opportunities represents 11.6GW
 - Non-data center pipeline stands at 2.1GW
- Conversion of pipeline to reimbursement agreements has increased to 1.3GW (up from 0.9GW in Q1)
- Expected new load projected at 3.7GW by 2032 – more than double the 1.8GW load forecast in our 2025 CPCN
 - Continued expansion of economic development projects drives the need for additional generation investments beyond the ~1.3GW approved in the 2025 CPCN
- Higher demand makes it more likely a CPCN for additional generation resources will be filed by year-end
 - Resource mix could include 266MW Lewis Ridge pumped storage project, 400MW of batteries deferred in the 2025 CPCN and additional CCGT generation; reflects potential incremental $3.5B - $4.0B of investment need between 2027 and 2032⁽¹⁾

(1) The incremental investment primarily reflects the pumped storage and CCGT generation, as the batteries are already reflected in current capital plan. Incremental investment need net of ITC estimated at $2.5B - $3.0B. This estimate excludes potential solar generation investments that may also be needed to support a balanced energy portfolio.

EXHIBIT 76: PPL Calls Out its Invitium Energy JV (With Blackstone) Potentially Driving $10-12B in Incremental Spend Through 2032

Key Takeaways

Executing on 2026 commitments while expanding long-term growth prospects

- Delivered solid Q2 results and reaffirmed our 2026 forecast and long-term outlook
- Advanced constructive regulatory outcomes supporting investment and customer affordability
- Expanded visibility into large-load demand across our Pennsylvania and Kentucky service territories supported by newly approved tariffs that protect existing customers
- Advanced Invitium Energy toward commercial execution, increasing confidence in incremental growth opportunities, with one or more agreements expected by year-end
- Kentucky generation and the Invitium Energy joint venture upsides represent between $10B to $12B of potential incremental capital investment through 2032, strengthening long-term growth prospects beyond our current plan period⁽¹⁾

(1) Incremental upside reflects prospective capital investments identified for PPL's 51% ownership in the Invitium Energy GenCo joint venture based on PPL's current turbine reservations plus the potential incremental generation capital investments that may be needed to support economic development in PPL's Kentucky service territories based on a resource mix including the Lewis Ridge pumped storage project and additional CCGT generation.
