

Spotify Technology S.A.

Steady execution towards financial targets

On track with outlook

- We remain constructive on Spotify shares and expect the company to continue to make progress towards its financial targets. While costs have increased this year due to new platform investments, the company continues to launch differentiated products and features that support additional monetization opportunities and enhance operating leverage. We believe the company is nearing the launch of its AI Remix tool by YE or early 27 as it continues to secure agreements with the labels (UMG, Merlin, Kobalt signed; WMG likely before the contract expires in Feb; Sony interested to collaborate as artists opt-in).
- We expect 3Q results to be largely in line with management's outlook, including €4.97B in revenues, +14.7% FXN and 32.9% gross margins, up 130 bps y/y, as audiobook bundle mix/marketplace growth offset investments in content, partner program, Reserved, and several AI-powered features.
- We look for 5M premium net adds (in line with last year) as the continued rollout of value enhancing features (incl. taste profile management, prompted playlist/podcasts) support conversion from the expanded top of funnel. Along with stable FXN ARPU growth of 7.5% y/y reaching €4.94/mo, we expect premium revenues to grow 15.2% FXN vs. 16.0% in 2Q.
- Advertising revenue growth should accelerate to 8.6% FXN as comparisons ease against last year's lower podcast inventory and self-serve/ programmatic channels continue to scale. We expect momentum to carry into 4Q (UBSe +10.7% FXN).
- We forecast OI of €674M in 3Q (guide €670M) on 18% y/y opex growth (ex-social charges), driven by investments in AI, higher marketing spend while social charges ramp to €22M (vs. €9M guide) vs. minimal impact in 2Q.

2026 estimates intact; Expect similar growth in 2027

- For 4Q, we forecast total revenue growth of 13.6% y/y FXN to €5.2B, with premium revenue growing at a similar rate. This includes 10M net premium adds in 4Q vs. 9M a year ago as stronger top-of-funnel supports conversion to paid subs while FXN ARPU growth slows to 4.6% as last year's price increases are lapped, partly offset by scaling usage-based revenues. We expect gross margins to expand 60 bps y/y in 4Q vs. +130 bps in 3Q given continued investments in the platform while opex growth slows to +10% from high-teens growth YTD.
- We are largely maintaining our 2026 estimates for €19.5B in revenues (+14.3% FXN) and 33.2% gross margins, up ~120 bps y/y. We look for 11% y/y FXN opex growth in '26 on rollout of new AI features and partnerships, normalizing back to MSD growth in '27.
- We expect the company to generate €3.4B in FCF in 2026, up 19% y/y, inclusive of higher cash taxes. With the convertible paid in cash in March and additional $1.5B approved, we expect the company to ramp its buyback in the near-term.

- In 2027, we expect similar revenue growth at 14% FXN, driven by 23M paid subs (vs. 25M in '26) and 5.6% FXN ARPU growth as the company continues to monetize its new capabilities on the platform. We forecast ~100 bps improvement in gross margins to 34.2%, helped by mix shift, while opex growth normalizes to MSD.

Valuation: Buy rated (PT $675)

- Our new PT of $675 (prior $690) is based on 24x slightly lower forward EBITDA, equating to 1x multiple to growth (unchanged).

Company Description

Spotify is a digital music, podcast, and video streaming service launched in 2008. Spotify offers two tiers: 1) A premium service that provides subscribers with unlimited online and offline access to its catalog of tracks for a monthly fee. 2) An ad-supported service that provides users with limited on-demand online access to the catalog for no fee. With over 500m MAUs and over 200m subscribers, Spotify is among the most popular streaming media platforms. Spotify makes substantially all of its revenue through its premium service, with the rest through advertising.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

Our Spotify price target is based on multiples. Spotify's operating model depends heavily on 3rd party licenses (mainly labels & publishers). Adverse change to, loss of, or claim that Spotify does not hold any necessary licenses may materially adversely affect operating results and financial conditions. The concentration of content by the major providers means even one entity or a small number of entities working together may unilaterally affect Spotify's access to music and other content. The rapid pace of evolution in the Internet and Technology sector could cause a shift in user behavior that diverts users away from Spotify or reduces user engagement. This includes improvement in existing competitors' offerings (Apple Music, Google Music, Amazon Music, Pandora, Sirius XM, etc.) as well as the emergence of new competition. Additional risks include concentrated voting control, macroeconomic impacts to consumers and global advertising budgets, currency fluctuations, and potential breaches of licensing agreements.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.
