

Hon. Precision

Key takeaways from the JPM Asia Tech Tour

We hosted Hon. Precision at the JPM Asia Tech Tour. Key takeaways were:

- Large-package ATC handler shipments to ramp in 2027. Hon indicated that large-package ATC handler shipments could contribute 10-15% of Hon's total ATC handler shipments in 1H27 and >30% in 2H27. This looks like a clarification and a minimum goal that Hon would achieve, vs its initial commentary on the 2Q26 earnings call that large-package ATC handlers could account for 20-30% of Hon's shipments to 'AI-related customers' in 1H27 and >50% in 2H27. Large-package ATC handlers enjoy a 20-25% pricing premium over its current ATC handlers, therefore it will be a key spec upgrade for 2027. As large-package ATC handlers support 10kW ATC capabilities, Hon's ATC roadmap to 10kW would be pulled ahead by 1 year from 2028 to 2027, strengthening its technology leadership.
- Not yet lifting guidance, despite a constructive outlook. Hon reiterated that its shipment value could grow by >40% YoY in 2026 (with potential to 50%), >50% YoY in 2027 and likely 50% YoY in 2028. Consistent with the 2Q26 earnings call, Hon specified key demand drivers and its capacity expansion plan over the next 18 months. We asked which projects could provide upside potential to demand – Hon cited China AI, US EV OEM, ASICs and CPUs. However, Hon does not plan to lift its 2027 guidance at this moment, as it will depend on its capacity expansion progress, while labor shortages will be a potential bottleneck. Hon's GM target range is 55-60%. While GM in the China business and ATC handlers could improve with a better product mix, Hon did not guide to a gradual move towards the high end of the target range. In short, Hon is not yet lifting guidance despite a constructive outlook.
- CPO test insertion 4 O/E - mass volume from 2028. Hon's development of CPO test insertion 4 optical-electrical (O/E) co-test handlers is on track, and the ramp will depend on the customer's product schedule. On shipments, Hon expects a small volume in 2027 and a mass volume from 2028. ASP for this new handler will be higher than that for dual-temp ATC handlers. Whether instrument cost is included in Hon's handler price will be a key variable to pricing and GM (consignment vs buy and sell), and this has not yet been decided.
- Chip probing thermal solutions under development. Hon is leveraging its ATC and handler capabilities in FT/SLT to develop ATC and thermal chuck solutions in chip probing (CP). Currently, the industry lacks more advanced and cost-competitive thermal solutions for probers. Hon aims to address this industry challenge and views it as a long-term business expansion direction.
- Stock views. We believe Hon's growth outlook remains very solid, and we forecast a 64% and 68% rev and EPS CAGR in 2025-28. Hon's stock reached a peak of NT$8,000+ at end May and has been range-traded mostly in NT $6,000-7,000 during Jun and Aug. We believe Hon's detailed commentary for multiple demand drivers (not only GPU) and handler capacity tightness will have dispelled some investor concerns on GPU-related topics (ramp schedule, test time, etc.) and/or competition around SLT handlers. In our view, Hon's constructive outlook is somewhat in the Street's expectations, and the stock's current ~30x 2027E P/E appears neither particularly expensive nor cheap. For the shares to return to their prior peak or break through, we believe it will likely require the next wave of upward estimate revisions and/or a valuation roll-over to 2028 earnings, where CPO will play a key driver of incremental growth.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

Hon. Precision (Overweight; Price Target: NT$8,350.00)

Investment Thesis

We are OW Hon. Precision (Hon). Hon is the global No.1 player in semiconductor test handlers, with a 35%+ market share, with an 80% revenue mix from AI & HPC. Given volume and spec uptrends for AI & HPC chips, we model 41% and 17% CAGRs for handler shipments and ASP in 2025-28, driving 64% and 66% CAGRs for both revenue and EPS. We believe the Street underestimates its multi-year ASP expansion potential amid rapid test spec upgrades. Hon is also a CPO enabler/beneficiary and is becoming a handler total solution provider. We like Hon's EPS power, re-rating potential and enabler role in future AI chip tests.

Valuation

Our Jun-27 PT of NT$8,350 is based on a 38x 2027E P/E, in line with its average of plus 1STDs of 39x since Dec-25, when the company started trading on the Main Board.

We see a potential bull scenario in which Hon's share price could challenge the NT$10,000 level if and when the Street rolls forward to 2028E EPS and assigns a P/E of 35-40x.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

Key downside risks include an AI demand slowdown, test density declines, growing competition and slow progress in new advanced packaging technologies.

Key upside catalysts include global AI/AI semi capex hikes, stronger and longer AI demand, accelerating AP tech migrations and key project wins.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan's continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period. J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe). NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock’s expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.
