

NAURA (002371.SZ): China Semis Capex to drive growth ahead; new tools to broaden product coverage

We are positive on NAURA and expect revenues to grow by +50% / +8% QoQ in 3Q26E / 4Q26E (vs. -5% QoQ in 2Q26), driving 2H26E revenues to grow by 52.3% HoH. As highlighted in CHIPS IV, we expect China semiconductor capex to grow by 13% / 15% / 15% / 10% / 10% in 2026E-30E, with China WFE spending increasing by 13% / 20% / 15% in 2026E-28E. We expect the growing China Semis Capex to drive NAURA's growth ahead, especially from Chinese memory and advanced-logic customers, increasing localization of semiconductor equipment and the company's expanding product coverage across etching, deposition, cleaning and thermal processes. Maintain Buy.

Memory capex to drive growth ahead: We remain positive on Chinese memory capacity expansion, driven by generative AI, market share gain, and product lines expansion. We believe increasing process complexity in higher-layer 3D NAND and advanced memory is driving growing demand for etching and deposition equipment, where NAURA has broad product coverage. Compared with advanced logic, memory capacity expansion is also relatively less constrained by the availability of leading-edge lithography tools, while qualified equipment can be replicated as customers add capacity. We expect the supportive demand environment, together with rising penetration of local semiconductor equipment, to sustain NAURA's order growth in 2H26 and 2027E.

New tools entering commercialization: NAURA continues to broaden its product coverage across advanced memory, logic and packaging applications. The company's new-generation high-end ICP etcher has completed customer validation and entered production introduction, while its tube-type ALD tools have achieved volume deliveries to domestic memory customers. The company is also making progress in advanced packaging, with hybrid-bonding tools securing batch orders and high-end TSV plating tools entering scaled supply. We expect the broader tool portfolio and continued commercialization of new products to support customer penetration and longer-term order growth.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Quantum is Goldman Sachs' proprietary database providing access to detailed financial statement histories, forecasts and ratios. It can be used for in-depth analysis of a single company, or to make comparisons between companies in different sectors and markets.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock’s total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region’s Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts’ investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.
