Infiniteon reported quarterly revenues slightly above Vara Consensus, but adj. EBIT was 2% below consensus in 3QFY26. Further, the company stated it expects FY26 revenue of €16.3bn implying an 11% yoy increase (vs prior commentary of revenues increasing significantly yoy), with unchanged combined segment margins of around 20%, at an FX rate of €1= $1.15 (vs €1= $1.17 prior). As such, we estimate that the latest FY26 topline/segment result would be c.1%/2% above Vara cons into the print. Key takeaways include 1) Improving end-market trends and accelerating AI demand support a broadening recovery, with DC revenue secured against CRAs, 2) Backlog growth facilitates improving visibility into 2027, 3) Pricing discipline and stronger operating leverage underpin margin trajectory, and 4) Competitive positioning in China remains robust despite local competition.

■ Improving end-market trends and accelerating AI demand support a broadening recovery, with DC revenue secured against CRAs:

Management highlighted that market recovery is gaining traction, indicating that the upcycle is now broadening beyond a handful of end markets, supported by improving demand patterns, normalising inventory levels and increasing order activity across much of its portfolio. Within Industrial, demand continues to strengthen, particularly around power infrastructure, where grid expansion and modernisation are driving investment in energy storage systems and high-voltage solid-state devices. In Auto, customer ordering activity is improving despite a relatively muted underlying vehicle market, with third-party forecasts now pointing to c.91m light vehicle production in 2026, modestly above IFX expectations coming into the year. AI infrastructure remains the strongest growth vector, with continued investment in data centres driving demand for increasingly efficient power delivery solutions. Importantly, Infiniteon disclosed that a meaningful proportion of its future AI data centre revenues are now backed by multi-year capacity reservation agreements (CRAs) with major customers, representing cumulative commitments in the HSD billions of euros. Management noted that these agreements, which include customer prepayments, span hyperscalers, AI processor vendors and broader data centre hardware providers. As such, management expects to materially increase its current €2.5bn AI data centre revenue target for 2027 at FY earnings, providing further confidence in the durability of the AI investment cycle in our view.

- Backlog growth facilitates improving visibility into 2027: Order backlog increased to c.€30bn at the end of June, representing a material sequential increase. In this vein, management highlighted that the improvement was primarily driven by GIP, PSS and ATV, with GIP benefiting from broad-based strength in customer order intake, while PSS continues to operate in a highly supply-constrained environment with most products effectively on allocation. Within Auto, the stronger backlog reflects a combination of improving market dynamics in China, healthy momentum around software-defined vehicle programmes and customer inventory replenishment. Importantly, management indicated that roughly two-thirds of the current backlog is expected to convert into revenue over the next 12m, supporting improved revenue visibility into 2027 (Vara Consensus at €19.2bn for FY27).
- Pricing discipline and stronger operating leverage underpin margin trajectory: Infineon highlighted that it has implemented two rounds of price increases, with the latest taking effect in July, and is seeing encouraging customer acceptance as delivery capability and product value remain key differentiators. Given the timing of these actions, the company noted that the full benefit will only be reflected in the P&L from 1QFY27 onwards, although management expects AI-related pricing and selected product categories to provide an initial uplift in 4QFY26; this will be partly offset by higher input costs, which the company continues to address through ongoing customer negotiations. Looking ahead, Infineon guided to a Q4 segment result margin of c.23%, up around 400bps QoQ, although management described its assumptions around revenue growth, pricing, costs and fab loading as conservative. Importantly, the company indicated that incremental margin flow-through is expected to be better than 50% in Q4, suggesting scope for upside should revenues exceed current assumptions, in our view.
- Competitive positioning in China remains robust despite local competition: Management outlined that Chinese competitors continue to face supply constraints across MOSFETs and analog components due to foundry dependencies and product quality challenges, creating opportunities for Infineon to win incremental business. In AI power, the company also believes barriers to entry remain high, noting that new entrants into Stage 2 power delivery require not only competitive power stages but also proven expertise in integrated power controllers and system-level design. Moreover, IFX reiterated that it remains the clear market leader in automotive MCUs in China despite increasing efforts by domestic competitors to replicate its products, supported by the breadth of its portfolio and longstanding customer relationships. Management also underscored a number of recent design wins in China, including supplying cockpit and ADAS fusion platforms at Xiaomi, alongside SiC bare dies for traction inverters at a leading Chinese OEM.

Changes to estimates

We raise our FY26–30 revenue estimates by c.1–6% to reflect continued strong demand from AI-related power semis (from both GPU/CPUs) in tandem with strong momentum in the GIP segment. Additionally, we incorporate the effect of additional revenues from IFX's acquisition of ams OSRAM across our forecast period which the company completed on 1st July 2026. Further, our FY26E GM is lower by 1pp to reflect elevated input costs and limited unwind of idle costs but our FY27-30 GM estimates are 0-1pp higher due to a higher top line and assumptions around lower underutilization charges. As such, our FY26-30 adj. EBIT estimate is higher between 1-10% reflecting changes to revenue, GMs and operating leverage. Finally, our EPS for FY26 is lower by -6% due to lower EBIT (reflecting higher share based compensation and other expenses) but is higher by +8% to +10% across FY27-30 in line with our EBIT estimates.

Valuation and key risks

We are Buy rated on Infineon with a 12-month price target of €91.0 (vs €88.0 prior) based on a 15x 2HCY27+1HCY28E (vs 18x prior) CY27E EV/EBITDA multiple applied to our latest EBITDA estimates. Our updated valuation multiple reflects a roll forward of our valuation period. Key risks to our view and price target include weaker end markets (such as lower-than-expected EV adoption rates), a worsening semi cycle and negative macro dynamics that could prolong the weakness in consumer demand and lead to demand being pushed out.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock’s total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region’s Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts’ investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

This research is not an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any security in any jurisdiction where such an offer or solicitation would be illegal. It does not constitute a personal recommendation or take into account the particular investment objectives, financial situations, or needs of individual clients. Clients should consider whether any advice or recommendation in this research is suitable for their particular circumstances and, if appropriate, seek professional advice, including tax advice. Fluctuations in exchange rates could have adverse effects on the value or price of, or income derived from, certain investments.

Certain transactions, including those involving futures, options, and other derivatives, give rise to substantial risk and are not suitable for all investors. Investors should review current options and futures disclosure documents which are available from Goldman Sachs sales representatives or at <https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp> and https://www.goldmansachs.com/disclosures/cftc_fcm_disclosures. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchase and sales of options such as spreads. Supporting documentation will be supplied upon request.
