

2Q26 earnings in line with our expectations

Stronger HPC growth momentum in 2H26-27F

2Q26 EPS of TWD14.94 (+31% q-q/+44% y-y) was in line with our expectations

2Q26 sales came at TWD23,281mn (+12% q-q/+37% y-y), with sales from all segments realizing q-q growth (HPC, 43% of total sales, +1% and industrial, 35%, +13% q-q as per our estimates). 2Q26 GM came in at 30.7% (+2.0pp q-q/-0.4pp y-y), while OPM was 17.2% (+2.3pp q-q/+0.3pp y-y). The margin improvement was mainly driven by the end of HPC's generational transition between new and old platforms (which had meaningful negative effects on product mix and utilization in 1Q26), along with better sales scale and production efficiency. The above factors helped to offset lower GM profiles of automotive and FA (auto revenue grew by 7% q-q in 2Q26).

Earnings call highlights

Management updated on the operating situation and shared its outlook on 21 August. (1) Views on growth outlook and profit margin: Management mentioned that the company's growth outlook remains positive, driven by high-speed cables/connectors, rising power density and power consumption of AI infrastructure/datacenters, and optical product development (800G upgraded to 1.6T, driving higher data density in datacenters). In 2Q26, GM and OPM grew q-q on improved sales and specific products' shipment recovery. Management indicated 2H26E profit margins should stay at reasonable levels, on growing revenue bases and favorable product mix. (2) Interplex Datacom's (unlisted) acquisition deal to close in 2H26E: Management noted that the acquisition is in progress and will close in 2H26E.

Revise up 2026F/27F EPS estimates by 3%/2%

We raise our 2026F/27F EPS estimates to TWD65.45/116.73 (based on outstanding shares of 119.6mn) from TWD63.34/114.26, to factor in higher HPC sales assumption driven by a recovery in demand for high-speed data cables and better power cabling's content value growth and market share, as well as non-AI segments' growing sales. Our market survey suggests the demand for active electrical cable (AEC) not only recovered in 2Q26 but saw stronger order placing from a few hyperscale customers entering 2H26F. Our 2026F/27F earnings forecasts have not taken the acquisition of Interplex into consideration (which we believe could add 8% to 13% earnings upside to our 2027F estimate). Our TP of TWD3,270 is based on 28x 2027F EPS of TWD116.73 (vs TWD3,200 based on 28x 2027F EPS previously). The stock trades at 19.5x/15.3x 2027F/28F EPS (historical average of 17x since 2014).

Company profile

BizLink specializes in cable assembly and wiring harness design and production. End applications include IT & DataComm, Automotive, Industrial, and Electrical Appliance.

Valuation Methodology

Our target price of TWD3,270 is based on 28x 2027F EPS of TWD116.73. Our multiple is higher than the mid point of its historical P/E of 9.9-29.7x in the past five years. The benchmark for this stock is TAIEX.

Risks that may impede the achievement of the target price

Downside risks: 1) slower-than-expected demand recovery of the company's major EV clients, other automotive OEM clients and automation customers; 2) slower-than-expected AI server and SPE demand growth and pricing pressure for supply chains; 3) Rising material and energy costs, and global tariffs that could possibly lead to supply chain disruption and weak consumer demand.

ESG

Bizlink is aware of its duty on environmental protection and has developed comprehensive green policy and strategy, monitor emissions, raw material usage, and water efficiency. The company has long-term strategies: reduce supply shocks from climate change and natural disasters, and reduce carbon footprint. The company targets green revenues (EV, Charging, Energy) to continue to grow as percentage of total annual sales.
