2026 Analyst Day & 3Q26 review: Better-than-expected 2027 EPS, revenue, and margin outlook

CLS	12m Price Target: $435.00	Price: $276.54	Upside: 57.3%

We attended CLS's 2026 Lunch Forum on October 27th in New York City after the company reported 3Q26 earnings and hosted its 2026 Analyst Day. First, 3Q26 results outperformed, with revenue of $5.83 bn above GSe/consensus of $5.36/$5.39 bn and EPS of $3.30 beating GS/consensus of $2.85/$2.90 driven by strength across both CCS and ATS. Second, CLS's 2027 outlook was better than expected, with guidance for $40.0 bn of revenue, a 9.0% adjusted EBIAT margin, and adjusted EPS of $21.50, above GSe/consensus of $39.0/$34.9 bn, 8.7%/8.6%, and $20.83/$19.24, respectively. Third, 2027 CCS growth should be driven by (a) continued 800G growth and accelerating 1.6T ramps, with 1.6T revenue expected to surpass 800G; (b) increasing scale-up Ethernet adoption, including AMD Helios and for custom ASIC racks; and (c) custom ASIC compute ramps. Fourth, CLS's integration of high-speed networking expertise, system-level design, manufacturing, and full-rack capabilities positions the company to benefit as AI infrastructure shifts toward increasingly customized rack-scale solutions. Importantly, management noted that CLS's 2028 demand forecast based solely on awarded programs is meaningfully above its 2027 revenue outlook, although supporting the upcoming ramps will require $1.5-$2.0 bn of capex and significant working-capital investment in 2027, resulting in negative FCF for 2027E. Notably, at CLS's Analyst Lunch, management remained highly confident in achieving its $40.0 bn 2027 revenue outlook and indicated that it expects to generate positive FCF in 2028.

We reiterate our Buy rating and reduce our target price to $435 (v. $480 prior) reflecting 13X (v. 18X prior) NTM+1Y EPS, alongside new 2027/2028/2029E EPS estimates of $22.43/$36.75/$49.18. The decrease in our target multiple reflects increased supply chain uncertainty.

Key takeaways:

- Networking (formerly Communications) growth to accelerate on 1.6T ramps and growing scale-up Ethernet adoption. Networking revenue increased 68% yoy to $3,263 mn in 3Q26, above GSe/consensus of $3,109/$3,151 mn, driven by growth in 800G networking, early production ramps of 1.6T programs, and continued demand for 400G products. Looking ahead, CLS expects 2026 Networking revenue of approximately $11.8 bn (+66% yoy), supported by continued 800G growth and initial mass-production ramps of 1.6T programs, with revenue expected to grow approximately 65% yoy in 4Q26E. Management expects strong revenue momentum to continue in 2027, with 1.6T revenue surpassing 800G, supported by ten awarded programs comprising four scale-up and six scale-out programs, while 800G deployments continue to grow. Furthermore, scale-up Ethernet represents an incremental growth opportunity given its higher port-attach and bandwidth requirements, with CLS expecting AMD Helios and OpenAI Jalapeno to be key 2027 drivers. Lastly, CLS's hyperscaler CPO program is scheduled to ramp in late 2027, although management expects pluggable optics to remain the predominant architecture through the 1.6T generation, with CPO becoming more prominent at 3.2T.
- Compute and Storage (formerly Enterprise) to become a larger growth driver on Google TPU and other custom ASIC ramps. Compute and Storage revenue increased 242% yoy to $1,609 mn in 3Q26, above GSe/consensus of $1,357/$1,341 mn, driven by ramping hyperscaler AI-compute volumes, stronger-than-expected storage demand, and continued momentum across custom ASIC platforms. CLS expects 2026 Compute and Storage revenue of approximately $5.6 bn (+170% yoy), with the business expected to comprise a growing share of CCS revenue in 2027 on a relative basis, as custom ASIC programs accelerate, following ~160% yoy growth in 4Q26E. Growth should be driven by (a) continued scaling of CLS's multi-generational Google TPU engagement; and (b) the production ramp of the Jalapeno rack program, with management expecting both programs to be weighted toward 2H27. Management noted that Jalapeno represents CLS's most comprehensive program to date and serves as a proof point for its rack-level design and manufacturing capabilities, creating additional opportunities with existing and prospective customers.
- ATS growth to remain healthy in 2027 with further margin expansion. ATS revenue increased 23% yoy to $957 mn in 3Q26, above GSe/consensus of $898/$894 mn, driven by accelerating demand in Capital Equipment and growth across the segment's other end markets. CLS expects 2026 ATS revenue of approximately $3.6 bn (+13% yoy), including low-20s percentage growth in 4Q26E, with segment margins expanding ~110 bps yoy to a record 6.4%. On a forward basis, CLS expects ATS revenue to grow approximately 10% in 2027, with further margin improvement, supported by (1) AI-related wafer-fab equipment demand; (2) continued strength in Aerospace and Defense; (3) Industrial energy-generation and storage programs; and (4) HealthTech ramps in surgical robotics and diabetes care. CLS expects to drive further profitability improvement through a higher mix of engineering-led engagements, operating leverage, and continued portfolio discipline.

- Capacity investments across North America and Asia to support upcoming production ramps. Within North America, CLS plans to expand L11 liquid-cooled rack integration capacity in Texas and upgrade its Monterrey operations. Within Asia, CLS plans to significantly expand capacity at its Thailand campus and make targeted investments in Malaysia and Japan, while adding power and automation across its global manufacturing network.
- 2027 guidance beat; with visibility extending into 2028. CLS guided to 2027 revenue of $40.0 bn (+90% yoy), adjusted EBIAT margins of 9.0% (+60 bps yoy), and adjusted EPS of $21.50 (+86% yoy), above GSe/consensus of $39.0/$34.9 bn, 8.7%/8.6%, and $20.83/$19.12, respectively. Revenue growth should be driven by approximately 110% yoy growth in CCS and approximately 10% yoy growth in ATS, with multiple large program ramps resulting in meaningfully higher revenue in 2H27 than 1H27. Importantly, CLS noted that its 2028 customer demand forecast, based solely on awarded programs, is meaningfully above its 2027 revenue outlook, while customer planning discussions are extending into 2029 and, in some cases, 2030. We believe the combination of awarded programs, longer product-design cycles, and multi-year capacity planning provides CLS with improved visibility into its growth trajectory, with additional upside from a strong funnel of opportunities across existing and new customers.
- Margin expansion remains encouraging, though significant capacity and working-capital investments will weigh on near-term cash flow. CLS expects adjusted EBIAT margins to expand 60 bps to 9.0% in 2027, with gross margin of ~11%. Adjusted EBIAT margin expansion should be driven by design-led wins, cost discipline, scale, operating leverage, and manufacturing productivity. That said, CLS expects a net use of cash in 2027 as it invests $1.5-$2.0 bn in capex and working capital to support nearly $20 bn of incremental revenue. The company also lowered its 2026 FCF outlook to $460 mn from $600 mn, primarily due to targeted working-capital investments to support accelerating growth in 2027.
- High confidence in 2027 revenue outlook; positive FCF expected in 2028. At CLS's Analyst Lunch, management remained highly confident in achieving its $40.0 bn 2027 revenue outlook, supported by awarded programs and continued demand visibility. Additionally, while the scale of upcoming ramps is expected to drive a net use of cash in 2027, management also noted that it expects CLS to generate positive FCF in 2028.

Valuation. We are Buy rated on CLS (on America's Conviction List) with an updated 12-month target price of $435 (v. $480 prior) reflecting 13X (v. 18X prior) NTM+1Y EPS. The decrease in our target multiple reflects increased supply chain uncertainty.

Celestica supplies, designs, and manufactures IT hardware and industrial tech solutions for hyperscale and OEM customers. CLS delivers solutions under two segments: (1) Connectivity and Cloud Solutions (CCS, ~75% of 2025 revenue), which comprises both Communications (Networking, ~58% of total revenue), and Enterprise (Servers and Storage, 17% of 2025 revenue); and (2) Advanced Technology Solutions (ATS, 26% of 2025 revenue), which delivers various industrial solutions across its subverticals including (a) Industrial & Smart Energy; (b) Aerospace & Defense; (3) Capital Equipment; and (4) Health Tech. We view Celestica as a winner amongst growing AI data center build deployments due to their competitive advantage against other ODMs and EMS players in engineering, as well as the company's ability to quickly and reliably scale production. As such, Celestica should benefit from (a) ongoing growth amongst hyperscale and large tier-2 cloud data center spend, where the company has demonstrated its ability to win customer programs; and (b) as Celestica gains traction within higher-margin ODM server business, relative to its traditional position as an EMS server player.

Key downside risks include: (-) continued competition from branded data center equipment OEMs and ODMs, which could pressure market share; (-) AI server market competitive intensity, which can pressure AI server margins; (-) high customer concentration could cause revenue volatility; (-) potential declines in data center investment demand; (-) reductions in CLS's ability to win higher margin design-deals, which could limit CLS' ability to grow EBIAT margins over time; and (-) volatility in end-market demand within CLS' ATS segment.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Quantum is Goldman Sachs' proprietary database providing access to detailed financial statement histories, forecasts and ratios. It can be used for in-depth analysis of a single company, or to make comparisons between companies in different sectors and markets.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
