1H26 review: Higher ARR and R&D in pursuit of model intelligence-cost frontier; Buy

MiniMax's first-half results centered around a few key themes (stronger ARR ramp-up, GPM improvement yet a significant R&D step-up) where we believe the company's articulated aim to differentiate on the performance-price frontier (despite wider near-term losses) can drive room for further valuation repair over 2H26. (+) Stronger-than-expected ARR ramp-up, with July tokens up 20X (vs. January) at latest August ARR that surpassed US$800mn where we lift 2026 year-end ARR to US$1.2bn (vs. prior US$1bn, which implies 10X Price/2026E year-end ARR at last close); (+/-) improving GPM, albeit at a slower-than-expected ramp-up on mix from text model contribution. We note encouraging M3 API gross margin profile that already exceeded M2, on the back of further inference efficiency breakthroughs; and (+/-) significant step-up in R&D costs as we believe the company is placing an all-in emphasis on scaling, across pre-/post-training in driving model intelligence/the optimal Pareto frontiers for its model pipeline. With ample US$3bn+ cash reserve post recent funding, we estimate 2H R&D to reach US$512mn (US$1bn annualized from US$600mn annualized in 1H) given upcoming M3.1 update with significant post-training scaling, and 3T-sized M3 Pro and H3.1 multi-modal model updates over 4Q26.

We lay out key investor focuses from the print, results call takeaways and our thoughts by topics on: 1) Revenue outlook and ARR ramp-up across foundation text and multi-modal models, 2) Strategies in achieving best price-to-performance/Pareto frontier next; 3) Scaling compute supply and utilization alongside accelerating token demand; 4) Expanding multi-modal leadership following the launch of H3 with an Open Weight approach, and 5) Differentiating MiniMax Agent, Code and Design products at the harness/agent layer. Factoring in the results, we raise total revenue by +5%/+38%/+29% in FY26/27/28E and update our adj. net profit forecasts by -69%/-26%/-8% on higher R&D expenses. Maintain Buy with a 12-m DCF-based TP of HK$760 (prior: HK$800) given a still upward skew to our fine-tuned bull-case/bear-case implied valuation of HK$1,300/HK$220.

As highlighted in our earlier Founder/CEO meeting takeaways, given the ongoing steep market cap discount (US$13bn) vs. China video-generation model peer Kling post-money valuation of US$18bn (see our report) and Z.ai/Zhipu last close at US$61bn, we view the company's articulated strategy in addressing M3 model competitiveness and recent H3 multi-modal launch as positive drivers for ARR ramp-up that could drive significant room for valuation repair over 2H 2026 (given a run-rate at half of Zhipu). We continue to see MiniMax as well positioned amongst Chinese AI model companies to capture the significant global TAM growth potential across text/coding, multi-modal, agentic/co-worker (digital labor) and multi-modal generation on the back of its comprehensive multi-modal offerings, strong commercialization capability, AI model per token cost advantages and high organizational efficiency.

We lay out below the key investor focuses from the print, results call takeaways and our thoughts by topics on:

1) Revenue outlook and ARR ramp-up across foundation text and multi-modal models, with ARR exceeding US$800mn in August (vs. US$150mn in Feb and US$400mn+ in early June), as July token consumption increased 20X vs. Jan and enterprise/developer customers surpassed 2mn (10X from end-25). Management attributed the acceleration primarily to model intelligence uplift at attractive cost performance, with stronger models (esp. M3 launch) driving step-function increases in usage rather than linear growth. We also note strong growth from Open Platform (63% of 1H26 revenue, vs. 30% in 1H25), supported by growing enterprise/developer adoption and rapid Token Plan uptake. Looking ahead, management remains highly confident in achieving its US$1bn year-end ARR target, with further upside dependent on updates of M3.1 (post-training with higher stability and inference efficiency), M3 Pro (3T flagship model with larger scale pre-training and next generation MiniMax Sparse Attention architecture), and H3.1 updates. GS view: We estimate MiniMax's revenue to reach US$400mn/US$517mn for 2H26/FY26E (prior: US$373mn/US$493mn), supported by a stronger-than-expected ARR trajectory and upcoming model iterations across text/video offerings at higher cost performance, with our lifted 2026 year-end ARR to US$1.2bn vs. prior US$1bn.

2) Strategies in achieving best price-to-performance/Pareto frontier next, where management views inference efficiency not only as a driver of lower serving costs, but increasingly as a key determinant of post-training scale, which becomes increasingly important in advancing future model capabilities. Through a combination of architecture innovation and infrastructure optimization, MiniMax continues to improve inference efficiency, with MSA (among other technical upgrades) helping M3 maintain broadly comparable API gross margins versus M2 at a doubled parameter size (430B vs. 230B), and upcoming MSA 2.0 expected to provide greater leverage in scaling model intelligence at superior cost efficiency. We note 1H26 gross margin came in lower-than-expected, which we attribute to a rising revenue mix from lower-margin text models vs. multi-modal and a one-off token subscription plan compensation following M3's earlier pricing changes after launch. GS view: We forecast gross profit of US$93mn/US$114mn in 2H26/FY26E (prior: US$107mn/US$149mn), under a rapidly growing contribution from text models and gradually improving inference efficiency following recent model launches, while partially supported by continued inference optimization, improved cluster utilization and stronger pricing power at higher intelligence (notably through the upcoming M3 Pro). We forecast adj. net loss of US$-436mn/US$-735mn in 2H26/FY26E (prior: US$-268mn/US$-436mn) on step-up in R&D expenses.

3) Scaling compute supply and utilization alongside accelerating token demand, where MiniMax has established a diversified compute network combining self-operated clusters (providing core training/inference capacity with greater control over scheduling and efficiency optimization), CSP partnerships (offering incremental flexibility) and Token Factory capacity (rapidly expandable inference supply for peak-demand scenarios). Management noted that overall compute supply growth continues to lag downstream token demand growth, reinforcing the need for scalable and low-cost compute to support future model scaling (also backed by a US$3bn cash reserve), while noting that current compute capacity is already sufficient for M3.1/M3 Pro/H3.1 launch. The company highlighted substantial infrastructure upgrades completed in 1H26 across cluster, networking and software systems, with effective training utilization reaching 97%. Domestic chips are also expected to contribute further over time, supporting potential lower unit costs and greater supply resilience. GS view: We now expect R&D expenses of US$512mn/US$809mn for 2H26/FY26E (prior: US$331mn/US$531mn), reflecting continued investments into larger-scale pre-training, post-training and growing inference demand, partially offset by improving compute utilization and training/inference efficiency.

4) Expanding multi-modal leadership following the launch of H3 with an Open Weight approach, where the model now reaches the frontier of cost performance among leading video generation models (Exhibit 8), supporting a range of high-value commercial use cases with attractive customer ROI. The company noted accelerating ARR contribution since H3's launch in Aug, and continues to view deeper integration between text understanding and visual generation as a promising path toward more sophisticated production workflows and commercial applications. We also note that the company's global footprint (with 61% of 1H26 revenue from overseas) provides an important distribution advantage as multi-modal adoption expands across international markets. We view the company's open-weight approach as a means to broadening developer adoption and ecosystem participation (with H3 gaining stronger-than-expected traction at 24mn+ global downloads), particularly against internet mega-caps' advantage of integrated model-product-distribution ecosystems. We also note the launch of MiniMax Design as a potential catalyst for broader commercial adoption, which aims to lower user barriers/overall costs for commercial content generation through agent-driven workflow orchestration and enable scalable production use cases on the back of H3's frontier cost performance.

5) Differentiating MiniMax Agent, Code and Design products at the harness/agent layer, through portfolio of MiniMax Agent (general-purpose workspace application), MiniMax Code (coding agent for long-horizon complex task) and MiniMax Design (end-to-end multi-modal commercial content creation), as internet mega-caps consolidate agent offerings into unified workspace applications as key entry points to their AI ecosystems (Tencent's WorkBuddy, Alibaba's QwenWork and ByteDance's latest revamp with Doubao Work), where we note MiniMax also benefits from growing downstream demand as a key model provider behind these leading yet model-neutral workspace applications. We view the harness layer as providing both a more direct commercialization path and a source of proprietary workflow data that can reinforce model iteration and product capabilities, where sustainable retention and pricing power beyond temporary product/model leadership remain key.

Key risks: Weaker-than-expected model performance amid the competition in the global foundation model industry; Slower-than-expected path to profit visibility; Weaker-than-expected commercialization capability; risks around IP/content generation; cash burn/self-funding capability; risks around geopolitics under an intensified tech race between the US and China.

Price Target Risks and Methodology - MiniMax Group

We are Buy rated on MiniMax with a 12-month target price of HK$760. Our valuation is based on DCF valuation, with 12% WACC and 2% terminal growth rate.

Key risks: Weaker-than-expected model performance amid the competition in the global foundation model industry; Slower-than-expected path to profit visibility; Weaker-than-expected commercialization capability; risks around IP/content generation; cash burn/self-funding capability; risks around geopolitics under an intensified tech race between the US and China.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.

It does not constitute a personal recommendation or take into account the particular investment objectives, financial situations, or needs of individual clients. Clients should consider whether any advice or recommendation in this research is suitable for their particular circumstances and, if appropriate, seek professional advice, including tax advice. The price and value of investments referred to in this research and the income from them may fluctuate. Past performance is not a guide to future performance, future returns are not guaranteed, and a loss of original capital may occur. Fluctuations in exchange rates could have adverse effects on the value or price of, or income derived from, certain investments.

Certain transactions, including those involving futures, options, and other derivatives, give rise to substantial risk and are not suitable for all investors. Investors should review current options and futures disclosure documents which are available from Goldman Sachs sales representatives or at <https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp> and https://www.goldmansachs.com/disclosures/cftc_fcm_disclosures. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchase and sales of options such as spreads. Supporting documentation will be supplied upon request.

Differing Levels of Service provided by Global Investment Research: The level and types of services provided to you by Goldman Sachs Global Investment Research may vary as compared to that provided to internal and other external clients of GS, depending on various factors including your individual preferences as to the frequency and manner of receiving communication, your risk profile and investment focus and perspective (e.g., marketwide, sector specific, long term, short term), the size and scope of your overall client relationship with GS, and legal and regulatory constraints. As an example, certain clients may request to receive notifications when research on specific securities is published, and certain clients may request that specific data underlying analysts' fundamental analysis available on our internal client websites be delivered to them electronically through data feeds or otherwise. No change to an analyst's fundamental research views (e.g., ratings, price targets, or material changes to earnings estimates for equity securities), will be communicated to any client prior to inclusion of such information in a research report broadly disseminated through electronic publication to our internal client websites or through other means, as necessary, to all clients who are entitled to receive such reports.

All research reports are disseminated and available to all clients simultaneously through electronic publication to our internal client websites. Not all research content is redistributed to our clients or available to third-party aggregators, nor is Goldman Sachs responsible for the redistribution of our research by third party aggregators. For research, models or other data related to one or more securities, markets or asset classes (including related services) that may be available to you, please contact your GS representative or go to <https://research.gs.com>.

Disclosure information is also available at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html> or from Research Compliance, 200 West Street, New York, NY 10282.
