Xiaomi (1810.HK)

Sep Launch | 18 Fold Advances Proprietary Silicon and Domestic Memory, alongside New SUVs

CITI'S TAKE

Xiaomi's September launch advanced its proprietary-silicon strategy and broadened its automotive offering. The 18 Fold combines XRING O3 with LPDDR6 i onfiguration, highlighting progress in domestic memory n through CXMT. The three-chip roadmap, announce nds from mobile processing to on-device AI and intelligent driving, backed by more than RMB21bn of cumulative chip R&D spending. In autos, final N70 Max/N90 Max prices were RMB20,000/RMB30,000 below July pre-sale levels, while N70 Pro sets a RMB209,900 entry point and the RMB299,900 Explorer Edition adds camping functionality. We believe stronger hardware differentiation and broader price coverage could support premium-device adoption and SUV demand; First 4 minutes lock-in orders reached 10k units. Our prior survey suggested 50-100k as first 3-day lock-in orders expectation for N90/N70 Max. We see order conversion, delivery execution and the margin impact of launch incentives remain key indicators for near term shares.

N70/N90 confirming lower launch prices and expanding the family-SUV offering— Following the technology preview on 30 July, Xiaomi formally launched the five-seat N70 Pro at RMB209,900, N70 Max at RMB239,900 and seven-seat N90 Max at RMB269,900. The two Max models are priced RMB20,000 and RMB30,000 below their respective July pre-sale prices; optional equipment and launch incentives affect the final purchase cost. The N70 Pro, already previewed in July, establishes the range's entry price.

- Core technology remains broadly consistent with the July preview, including the Kunlun architecture, extended-range powertrain and flexible cabin layout. The N70 Pro offers a 52kWh LFP battery, with 351km CLTC electric range and 1,351km combined range. The N70 Max uses a 76kWh battery, delivering 505km electric and 1,461km combined range, while the N90 Max also uses a 76kWh battery and offers 464km and 1,705km, respectively. Final pricing, equipment packages and purchase incentives were the principal commercial updates. \(Continued\)

- Launch incentives further support the offering. The N70 Pro includes complimentary front swivel seats and RMB8,000 wheel/RMB3,000 paint option vouchers during the introductory period. For the N90 Max, an optional luxury package—including powered doors, a rear entertainment screen, powered side steps and a 9L refrigerator—is offered at RMB20,000, versus the regular RMB31,000. N90 Max orders placed by 24:00 on 7 October qualify for complimentary seating and Nappa leather upgrades, wheel and paint vouchers, and lifetime Xiaomi HAD driver-assistance access.
- Xiaomi also formally introduced the five-seat N90 Max Explorer Edition at RMB299,900, featuring a factory-integrated electric pop-up roof that creates a two-level camping space with up to 2.29m of interior standing height. Its configurable sleeping area and integrated camping amenities extend the range into outdoor recreation.
- No base model launched this time, a bit disappointed, but could ease investors' concern on margins pressure, while it suggested N70 base model could reach Rmb150–200k price range in the future launch.

XRING chips expanding proprietary silicon across devices and vehicles — Xiaomi expanded its XRING lineup with three chips announced on 24 August. By that announcement, cumulative chip R&D spending since 2021 had exceeded RMB21bn. Xiaomi previously committed at least RMB50bn to chip development over at least ten years starting in 2025. We believe the expanded lineup could strengthen Xiaomi's hardware/software integration across mobile devices and vehicles.

- XRING O3, its second-generation flagship mobile SoC and, according to Xiaomi, the industry's first mobile SoC supporting LPDDR6, uses a 3nm process with 24bn transistors, a 10-core CPU running at up to 4.35GHz and a 16-core G2-Ultra NX GPU. Xiaomi reports performance gains of 60% in Geekbench 6.5 multi-core and 85% in 3DMark Steel Nomad Light versus O1, with GPU power consumption reduced by up to 64% at equivalent performance. O3 delivers 113.8GB/s memory bandwidth (+48%), adds 16MB of system-level cache and features a 200 TOPS NPU (A8W4) optimized for Xiaomi MiMo on-device models. Xiaomi also describes it as the first flagship SoC to exceed 5mn on AnTuTu, scoring 5.22mn. It powers Xiaomi 18 Fold and Pad 9 Pro Max.
- XRING O100, Xiaomi's first high-bandwidth AI accelerator purpose-built for on-device large language models, is described by the company as the world's first 6nm AI accelerator using 3D wafer-level stacking. It features a 14-core NPU and 1.22TB/s memory bandwidth. Its wafer-on-wafer architecture uses hybrid bonding to stack two DRAM wafers with one NPU wafer, incorporating 2.58mn bonding nodes at a 1.4 μ m pitch. Paired with O3, it delivers company-reported inference speeds of up to 330 tokens/sec; a separate actively cooled prototype demonstrated 295 tokens/sec running a MiMo on-device model.
- XRING D100, described by Xiaomi as China's first 3nm high-compute AI chip for intelligent driving, integrates a 20-core CPU and a 16-core NPU. It supports up to 160GB of unified memory per chip and local deployment of models with up to 200bn parameters, alongside multi-chip processing through XRING's high-speed interconnect. O100 and D100 are scheduled for n in 2027.

Xiaomi 18 Fold advancing proprietary silicon and domestic LPDDR6 memory

n — Xiaomi launched the 18 Fold with its 3nm XRING O3 processor, a 7.58-inch inner display (2364 × 1672) and a 5.38-inch cover display (1712 × 1168), both supporting LTPO 1–120Hz adaptive refresh rates. Its compact, wider format brings both displays closer to standard paper proportions, supporting reading and multitasking. The standard model weighs 219g and measures 5.02mm unfolded and 10.68mm folded. A redesigned three-link hinge and dual-layer ultra-thin glass, combining 50μm and 30μm layers, improves screen support and durability; Xiaomi reports an average crease depth of no more than 30μm under laboratory conditions. HyperOS 4 supports up to six split-screen applications and PC-style productivity software. Memory configurations include 12GB/16GB RAM and 256GB/512GB/1TB UFS 4.1 storage. LPDDR6 is exclusive to the 16GB+1TB configuration, with other versions using LPDDR5X. LPDDR6 is sourced from CXMT and SK Hynix. Xiaomi also announced that it partnered with CXMT to pioneer mass production of domestically developed LPDDR6, marking a meaningful step for China's mobile-memory supply chain. The camera system comprises a 200MP f/1.7 main camera with OIS, a 50MP f/2.4 ultrawide and a 50MP f/2.8 periscope telephoto with OIS and 3.5x optical zoom, alongside a 16MP front camera. A 6,000mAh battery supports 67W wired and 50W wireless charging, while the device carries IP58/IP59 protection. Prices are RMB10,999/11,999/12,999/14,999 for the 12GB+256GB, 12GB+512GB, 16GB+512GB and 16GB+1TB versions, respectively. A ceramic special edition introduces a silicon-nitride ceramic back and is priced at RMB15,999 for 16GB+1TB, with production limited to 1,500 units. Xiaomi foldable smartphone shipment only reached 452k and 111k in 2025 and 1H26, with new SOC and memory price hike, the new Xiaomi 18 Fold starting price is higher than prior edition by Rmb2k. We expect sales volume remains small but a good start for in-house new SoC adoption.

Xiaomi Pad 9 Pro Max — A flagship tablet focused on productivity. Powered by XRING O3, the tablet features a 13.3-inch 3.4K 144Hz display, a 12,000mAh battery and 120W charging, in a 5.67mm body weighing 645g (653g for the matte-display edition). HyperOS 4 supports PC-style applications and up to six split-screen apps on configurations with at least 12GB RAM, while USB-C DisplayPort input allows use as an external monitor. Prices range from RMB4,799 (8GB+256GB) to RMB7,899 (16GB+1TB, matte-display edition).

Xiaomi

Company description

Xiaomi is the world's first Internet mindset phone maker. It started with an MIUI launcher for various Android phones and then launched its own Mi Phone in August 2011. Mi Phones soon became a popular model. Xiaomi has also tapped into the IoT market with smartphone peripherals. The company has gradually expanded its product portfolio to include lifestyle products, home appliances, and EV.

Investment strategy

We rate Xiaomi shares as Buy based on factors including: 1) EV/IoT as a long-term growth driver especially overseas market from 2027; 2) continuous migration to mid-to-high-end smartphone market driving better profitability of smartphone and paid users for Internet services; and 3) potential edge monetization from its AI LLM capabilities. We see an attractive risk/reward profile emerging from Xiaomi's market share gains, which should feed through to more optimistic market sentiment toward the stock and the company's growth outlook when memory price enters cyclical peaking season in 2027.

Valuation

We value Xiaomi shares at HK$34.0 using a sum-of-the-parts (SOTP) valuation on 2H26-1H27E basis given solid long-term visibility. Our SOTP valuation is set at 18.1x for the core business (smartphone, IoT, and Internet services) business earnings (in-line with -1std below 3-year average P/E to reflect a smartphone downcycle due to memory price hikes), and 1.5x smart EV sales (higher than industry peers average given better ASP). These multiples are also justified by the company's growth outlook, in our view.

Risks

Downside risks that could prevent the shares from reaching our target price include: 1) stiffer-than-expected competition in the smartphone market; 2) a smaller-than-expected smartphone share gain from Huawei; 3) rising expense pressures on new store expansions; and 4) quick rising interest rates leading to de-rating.

Compensation is not linked to specific transactions or recommendations. Like all Firm employees, analysts receive compensation that is impacted by overall Firm profitability which includes investment banking, sales and trading, and principal trading revenues. One factor in equity research analyst compensation is arranging corporate access events between institutional clients and the management teams of covered companies. Typically, company management is more likely to participate when the analyst has a positive view of the company.

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:

Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks.

Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.

Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The target price is based on a 12 month time horizon. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Citi Research may suspend its rating and target price and assign "Rating Suspended" status for regulatory and/or internal policy reasons. Citi Research may also suspend its rating and target price and assign "Under Review" status for other exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis, trading suspension) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities. In both such situations, the rating and target price will show as "—" and "—" respectively in the rating history price chart. Prior to 11 April 2022 Citi Research assigned "Under Review" status to both situations and prior to 11 Nov 2020 only in exceptional circumstances. As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.

Catalyst Watch/Short Term Views ("STV") Ratings Disclosure:

Catalyst Watch and STV Upside/Downside calls: Citi Research may also include a Catalyst Watch or STV Upside or Downside call to indicate the analyst expects the share price to rise (fall) in absolute terms over a specified period of 30 or 90 days in reaction to one or more specific near-term catalysts or events impacting the company or the market. A Catalyst Watch will be published when Analyst confidence is high that an impact to share price will occur; it will be a STV when confidence level is moderate. A Catalyst Watch or STV Upside/Downside call will automatically expire at the end of the specified 30/90 day period. The Catalyst Watch will also be automatically removed if share price performance (calculated at market close) exceeds 15% against the direction of the call (unless over-ridden by the analyst). The analyst may also remove a Catalyst Watch or STV call prior to the end of the specified period in a published research note. A Catalyst Watch/STV Upside or Downside call may be different from and does not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of FINRA ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, a Catalyst Watch/STV Upside call corresponds to a buy recommendation and a Catalyst Watch/STV Downside call corresponds to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a Catalyst Watch Upside, Catalyst Watch Downside, STV Upside, or STV Downside call is considered Catalyst Watch/STV No View. For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution-disclosure rules, we correspond Catalyst Watch/STV No View to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider No View to be a recommendation. For all Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside calls, risk exists that the catalyst(s) and associated share-price movement will not materialize as expected.

Investing in non-U.S. securities, including ADRs, may entail certain risks. The securities of non-U.S. issuers may not be registered with, nor be subject to the reporting requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Foreign companies are generally not subject to uniform audit and reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those in the U.S. Securities of some foreign companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable U.S. companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment in a foreign stock and its corresponding dividend payment for U.S. investors. Net dividends to ADR investors are estimated, using withholding tax rates conventions, deemed accurate, but investors are urged to consult their tax advisor for exact dividend computations.
