Qingdao TGOOD Electric reported a disappointing set of 3Q results, with net profit growing <7% yoy to RMB382mn, slowing from >30% growth in 1H. Lower overseas margins and investment income, together with elevated expenses, were the main drags. However, the company has demonstrated decent cost control over the past three years, while order momentum has improved across both domestic and overseas markets. We therefore expect earnings momentum to recover sequentially. Higher 3Q expenses could also partly reflect overseas expansion and R&D for new data center products, in our view. Order momentum was encouraging, with grid orders up 40% yoy in 9M vs. ~30% in 1H, data center orders reaching RMB1.5bn, up 3x yoy, and overseas orders reaching RMB1.3bn, up ~30% yoy. The next catalyst is potential progress on Saudi Arabia's prefabricated substation tender, which management estimates at RMB4–6bn. The tender delay has weighed on the share price. Given TGOOD's track record, including a ~50% share of the previous tender, we believe it could secure a meaningful share in the next tender. Maintain OW.

- 3Q26 earnings grew <7% yoy to Rmb 382mn, vs 30% growth in 1H26. Note that revenue growth picked up momentum to 18% in 3Q, vs 6% in 1H. Yet gross margin in 3Q declined ~140bps+ yoy to 26.3%. Management attributed the decline to the absence of high-margin Saudi orders recognized last year, which carried a ~35% gross margin. Management expects margins to recover sequentially as overseas revenue contribution increases, given ~30% average gross margin for overseas sales. Meanwhile, administrative and R&D expenses increased 15% and 32% yoy, respectively, limiting operating profit growth to ~12%.
- Domestic grid orders rose 40% yoy to RMB2bn in 9M26, accelerating from 30% growth in 1H26. Management attributed the strength to increased grid procurement of prefabricated products, replacement demand, strong substation demand and market-share gains. While renewable demand remains weak, management believes stronger orders from grids, data centers and overseas customers will more than offset the softness.
- Data center orders reached RMB1.5bn in 9M26, up 3x yoy and vs. RMB1bn in 8M26. Management continues to see strong demand for 110kV+ prefabricated substations from data center customers and noted decent customer feedback on its new products, including from large-cap internet companies and telecom operators. Recall, TGOOD launched its "AI PowerHouse" solution in June, integrating high-voltage transformers, GIS, medium-voltage switchgear, SST, protection and controls into factory-prefabricated modules, with 110/220kV input and 800V DC output to the data hall.
- New overseas orders rose 30% yoy to RMB1.3bn in 9M26 even with a high base. Management indicated growth would have been ~200–300% excluding the sizable Saudi order won last year. TGOOD's products serve overseas grid operators, energy and mining companies, power generators and data centers, with key markets including the Middle East, Europe and Australia. The company is also in discussions with North American customers for potential equipment supply. Management expects overseas expansion to be margin-accretive, given ~30% gross margin for overseas products (vs <25% average power equipment margin in FY25), and targets overseas revenue to reach 30%+ of power equipment segment revenue within 2–3 years. For the potential Saudi prefabricated substation order, management said the tender is progressing but did not provide a specific timeline.

See page 4 for analyst certification and important disclosures, including non-US analyst disclosures.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

Qingdao TGOOD Electric (Overweight; Price Target: Rmb42.00)

Investment Thesis

TGOOD is a leading global manufacturer of prefabricated substations and operator of China's largest EV charging network (~20%+ market share). We have an OW rating on the name as we see multiple under-appreciated growth drivers: (1) expanding overseas exposure and domestic tailwinds from grid investment for electrical equipment; (2) the EV charging business has pivoted to an asset-light model with sustained attributable profit growth; and (3) data center contracts and the development of HVPAC/SST technology offer growth optionality yet to be priced in.

Valuation

Our Jun-27 PT of Rmb 42/sh is based on a sum-of-the-parts methodology. We apply a ~20x FY27-28E P/E to the electrical equipment segment by referencing TGOOD's peers and a ~20x P/E to the EV charging segment given an improving earnings outlook.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

Downside risks include lower-than-expected utilization of EV charging piles and demand for electrical equipment, slower-than-expected overseas expansion, and slower-than-expected growth in data center-related business.

J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:
J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com.
