HPE Networking Investor Day 2026 Key Takeaways

HPE

12m Price Target: $80.00Price: $69.33Upside: 15.4%

HPE hosted a Networking Investor Day on September 30th, 2026 featuring a networking strategy, integration, and financial outlook session with Rami Rahim (EVP, President, and General Manager of HPE Networking), including a customer discussion with ServiceNow, a networking innovation panel featuring HPE networking senior executives (Praveen Jain, SVP, GM of data center networking; AE Natarajan, SVP, GM of routing infrastructure; David Hughes, SVP, SASE and security; and Sujai Hajela, EVP, campus and branch), and Q&A session with Rami Rahim and Shannon Cross (Chief Strategy Officer). Key highlights:

- HPE raised its F2027 outlook to high-teens to low 20s% revenue growth (v. 14-17% prior) with EBIT margins in the mid to high 20s% (reiterated). F2027 revenue should be more back-half weighted because of the timing of Helios shipments (now included in guidance) and anticipated contributions from the Oracle agreement. The company continues to work with its supply chain partners to address key contestants, with networking supply chain purchases doubling last quarters.
- New long-term growth framework calls for high teens% revenue growth through F2029. By segment, HPE expects (1) Campus & Branch to grow at HSD% CAGR (v. TAM +6% CAGR); (2) Data Center to grow low-to-high 50s% CAGR (v. TAM +44% CAGR); (3) Security to grow HSD% CAGR (v. TAM +12% CAGR); and (4) Routing to grow low-to-high 20s% CAGR (v. TAM +20% CAGR). HPE expects to grow above market in Data Center, Routing, and Campus & Branch driven by its scale advantage, increased services attach, cross-sell, and expanded TAM (i.e., scale-up switching).
- Raised merger synergy target to $800 mn (v. at least $600 mn prior). HPE now expect $800 mn in annualized run rate merger synergies by F2028, up from previous expectations for at least $600 mn (and initial guidance for $450 mn), driven by SG&A, go-to-market-harmonization, and the elimination of duplicate R&D costs.

We come away from HPE's Networking Investor Day favorably impressed by the company's positioning within both the data center & campus networking markets & new long-term financial targets, including raised expectations for merger synergies. We raise our F2027/28 EPS estimates by 4%/11% to reflect HPE's new outlook for scale-up up switching and broader CSP demand for networking infrastructure and raise our target price to $80 (v. $75 prior).

Key takeaways

HPE leadership outlined a four-pronged strategy for its Networking segment

focused on: (1) Scale benefits from the combined Juniper and HPE campus portfolio. The combined Juniper + HPE portfolio should see scale benefits from HPE's significantly larger go-to-market engine, driving larger growth opportunities and operating leverage. (2) Increased services attach. HPE looking to increase services attach rates in its Networking segment by 5 pp by F2028 (from ~1/3 of business today), which should drive deeper relationships and more recurring, high margin revenue. HPE looks to bring Juniper's historical business practices of high-margin attach to Aruba's larger installed base. (3) Cross-sell DC networking to HPE's broader infrastructure customer base. HPE looks to engage customers in broader discussion around compute, storage, security, and cloud management. (4) Expanding TAM. HPE highlighted new market opportunities like scale up networking in the AMD Helios rack.

HPE raised its outlook for the networking segment to high-teens to low 20s% revenue growth for F2027 (v. 14-17% prior), with new long-term F2029 growth outlooks by product segment. F2027 revenue should be more back-half weighted because of the timing of Helios shipments and anticipated contributions from the Oracle agreement. HPE now expects cumulative networks for AI orders to exceed $3 bn in F2026 (v. previous guidance for $2.5-$3 bn). The company continues to work with its supply chain partners to address key contestants, with networking supply chain purchases doubling last quarters. The company continues to expect Networking segment operation margins in the mid-to-high 20s% in F2027. HPE expects the Networking segment to grow at a high teens revenue CAGR through F2029 with operating margins in mid-to-high 20s%. By product segment:

- Data Center (Switching) is HPE's fastest growing networking opportunity, lead by hyperscalers and neocloud demand. HPE expects its Data Center business to grow in at a low-to-high 50s% CAGR F26-29, with the TAM expected to grow at a 44% CAGR from C26-C29 (v. 15% F2025-28 TAM growth as of SAM 2025), driven by robust hyperscaler/neocloud (cloud service providers, or CSPs) demand and the incremental opportunity from rack-scale AI networking. First, it is benefiting from being early to market with leading 800G, 1.6T and liquid-cooled solutions, which is important for CSPs deploying large AI clusters. HPE's portfolio has been optimized around power-efficiency (both for its own and merchant silicon), performance, and automation/self driving tools. For example, HPE's recent multi-year GW scale AI infrastructure build-out with Oracle spans the company's portfolio of high-end switches and routers. Second, Helios represents a $1 bn+ revenue opportunity over the next two years, with over $200 mn orders already. HPE announced the $1.2 bn AM Helios order from Vultr for purpose-built, scale-up switching and software. The Vultr deal represents a full-rack sale inclusive of HPE scale-up networking trays, though the company sees opportunities to sell stand-alone Helios Switch trays through other Helios rack scale providers over time. Third, HPE is also seeing demand from traditional data centers who are looking to modernize. HPE's highly differentiated data center management platform DC Director (formerly Apstra) and AIOps capabilities are driving a differentiated value proposition for its customers.

- Expanding routing opportunity is driven by (1) AI on-ramp; and (2) scale across. HPE expects its Routing business to grow in at a low-to-high 20s% CAGR F26-29, with the TAM expected to grow at a 20% CAGR from C26-C29 (v. 5% F2025-28 TAM growth as of SAM 2025). First, HPE's MX routing platform (with custom Trio silicon) is a leading routing platform of high-scale, service-rich edge routing & is well positioned to benefit from increased demand AI is putting on connecting users, devices, and branches to AI infrastructure. Second, scale across (or DCI) demand should grow as AI clusters expand beyond individual data centers, which HPE's PTX portfolio and express silicon are well positioned for.
- Campus & branch networking should benefit from broader infrastructure refresh trends. HPE expects its campus & branch business to grow in at a high single digits% CAGR F26-29, with the TAM expected to grow at a 6% CAGR from C26-C29 (v. 4% F2025-28 TAM growth as of SAM 2025). Campus & branch should benefit not just from the Wi-Fi 7 refresh cycle, but also from broader refresh trends as customers look to upgrade campus architectures to drive automation and protect against security threats. The company expects to grow above market in campus & branch driven by its differentiated capabilities in self-driving networks, which use AI capabilities on top of robust telemetry data collection to drive better up-times and lower support requirement through AI-driven, self-healing actions. These self-driving capabilities are available across Aruba Central and Juniper Mist.
- Embedding security throughout the networking portfolio. HPE expects its security business to grow in at a high single digits% CAGR F26-29, with the TAM expected to grow at a 12% CAGR from C26-C29 (v. 10% F2025-28 TAM growth as of SAM 2025). HPE sells both stand-alone security products, as well as security solutions embedded within its Campus & Branch silicon, which the company describes as a key point of differentiation. HPE believes that using the network as an enforcement point against security threats will differentiate the company relative to cloud-driven security providers.

Raised merger synergy target to $800 mn (v. at least $600 mn prior). HPE now expect $800 mn in annualized run rate merger synergies by F2028, up from previous expectations for at least $600 mn (and initial guidance for $450 mn), driven by SG&A, go-to-market-harmonization, and the elimination of duplicate R&D costs. In the first year post close, HPE has made good progress with unifying its sales organizations (Sales Day One) & early cross-pollination of Aruba Central and Juniper Mist capabilities. Looking forward, the company is focused on (1) bringing together the Juniper and HPE partner ecosystems, starting with Partner Day One (November 1) when all 60,000 HPE partners will be enable to sell the company's full networking portfolio; and (2) integrating commercial systems (e.g., single quote to cash platform, unified supply chain processes) which should continue through 2028.

Networking TAM & market share update

Last week, we updated our industry networking model to reflect the latest available 2Q26 data from 650 Group. 650 Group upgraded its outlook for the AI Ethernet data center switching market, where spending should reach ~$100 bn in 2030, growing at a 65% 2025-30 CAGR with stronger demand across all customer verticals (hyperscalers, tier 2 cloud, and enterprise). We view the outlook for increased networking spend as a result of the growing complexity of AI data center builds which should require greater networking attach to support high-performance, low-latency data traffic flows. Within the campus market: (1) WLAN (indoor + cloud)'s 2026-2030 outlook was raised by ~6% on average (now expecting ~$14.3 bn in 2030, growing at an ~8% 5-yr CAGR v. ~$13.4 bn prior), primarily driven by higher WiFi 7 estimates; (2) Enterprise switching estimates grew by ~8% on average to reach ~$30 bn by 2030 (v. $28 bn prior). We view upgraded campus spending outlooks as a result of (a) continued need for network modernization to support greater network data traffic flows, as well as (b) partial impact of memory price increases.

We summarize HPE's networking market share across its four key product areas (Campus & Branch, Routing, Data Center, and Security) below. Specifically, HPE's TAM growth for F2026-29 by product area is:

- +6% Campus & Branch (includes WLAN, Campus Switching and P5G).
- +20% Routing (includes Core/DCI, Metro, Edge, adjusted for L3 switches)
- +44% Data Center (Includes AI FE/BE, Non -AI)
- +12% Networking Security (SD -WAN, SSE, Firewall, NAC)

Valuation/Risks

Valuation. We are Buy rated on HPE with a 12-month target price of $80 (v. $75 prior) reflecting 14x (v. 17X prior) our NTM+1Y EPS. We lower our target multiple on compression in the peer comp group.

Key risks: (-) Lower-than-expected corporate IT spending and data center capex could result in worse-than-expected hardware sales; (-) Competition from white box manufacturers could result in cannibalization in HPE's server market share; (-) Market share loss from customer churn during Juniper integration; (-) Component costs could be higher than expected, resulting in worse gross margins; (-) Corporate actions from strategic investors; (-) Failure to deliver market share gains in storage driven by a strategy shift towards selling more owned-IP storage products that carry higher gross margins; (-) Worse-than-expected demand for enterprise and sovereign AI data center infrastructure.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DA CF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
